

5 KEY DISCIPLESHIP QUALITIES TO INSTILL

We know that helping our kids build Christian character is no easy task. Yet Jesus called His followers to make disciples—and this includes our own children! This guide contains activities you can do with your family to help instill five core values:

- 1 Develop Perseverance When Things Get Tough
- 2 Find Significance Every Day
- 3 Choose Generosity Over Selfishness
- 4 Make Good Choices
- 5 Experience Grace Instead of Guilt

It is our prayer that these will be helpful tools for you as you live out your greatest calling: parenting.

DEVELOP PERSEVERANCE When Things Get Tough

Life is hard, but God is good and in control. He doesn't want bad things to happen, but He can use them for good.

1. Endurance Game: Give everyone in your family two cans of food to hold over their head while balancing on one foot. Set a timer and record each person's time. Have your kids give it a second try to see if they can beat their first time. Chances are, this isn't something you'd normally do as a family, but don't let that stop you from experiencing something new!

Truth is, it would be impossible to hold up the cans and stand on one foot forever. Sometimes life is hard, and it can be more than we can handle on our own. We need help from God when things get tough.

2. Have everyone make a list of their top concerns and fears. Some can be silly, but be sure to include serious ones. Be honest! Once everyone is done, have each person share their fears and explain why each item made the list.

- 1. On your list, which fear is the worst? What would you do if it actually happened?
- 2. Whom would you trust to discuss the situation with?
- 3. What would it look like to trust God if that fear happened?

When we give our battles to God, they become His battles and He fights for us. Life will never be perfect, but we can always count on Him to be there for us. Our job isn't to solve all our problems; it's but to stand up under them by trusting God.

"We know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him." Romans 8:28, NIV

FIND SIGNIFICANCE Every Day

God has an amazing and awesome plan for your life. Your job is to discover it.

PUZZLE SCAVENGER HUNT: Select a puzzle that your family could finish in a single night. Before starting, take several pieces and hide them around your home, without your kids knowing what you are up to. Begin working on the puzzle. Once you have "finished" (placed all the pieces you have in the puzzle), send your kids on a hunt around your house to find the missing pieces and complete the puzzle. (If you are feeling especially creative, write clues for each hidden puzzle piece.)

God has an amazing plan for your life. It's bigger than anything you could dream up on your own. His plan is unique to you, just as every puzzle piece is our responsibility to grow closer to God so we can discover His plan for our lives.

Think about a professional athletic event: there are a few people playing the game, while many others are sitting in the stands watching. When it comes to sports, there are two classes of people: the athletes, who have a special role, and everyone else, who simply watches the game.

Everyone is significant in God's family. He doesn't want anyone to be only a spectator! He created everyone with a purpose: to be on the field, in the game, playing their position.

God has great plans for each of us, for every day of our lives. We don't need to wait; we can get started today. Our job is to grow closer to God so we can discover His plan for us.

"I know the plans I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

Jeremiah 29:11, NIV

CHOOSE GENEROSITY Over Selfishness

Everything we have belongs to God. Just as He is generous, so should we be generous to others.

NINE WAYS TO TEACH GENEROSITY TO YOUR KIDS

- 1. Be thankful: As a family, take an extended amount of time to make a list of all the things you are thankful for. End your time in prayer, thanking God for His blessings. Embracing gratitude positions us to be more generous toward others.
- 2. Model it: Demonstrate generosity to your kids by sharing and serving others. Talk about it with your kids. This isn't bragging; it's modeling and good parenting. You can be an example of generosity even if you are still learning how to practice it yourself!
- 3. Pay it forward: Give your children twenty bucks and challenge them to help three people. The catch is that those people can't know who is helping them. After a couple of days, ask your children to share their stories of generosity.
- 4. Clip it: Purchase a few magazines or newspapers to cut out pictures and headlines that demonstrate generosity—or a lack of it. If you are technically inclined, make a board together on Pinterest!
- 5. Earn it: Challenge your kids to earn some money (by working around your home or neighborhood) and give that income to a local charity or family in need
- 6. Raise it: Connect with a local charity or cause and find out what is needed. Organize a drive at school, online, or at church to gather donations.
- 7. Give it away: Set aside some toys, clothes, used sports equipment, and other goods and donate them to a local charity or cause. Take this up a notch by donating one thing you still want but don't need.
- 8. Change a life: Support a child through an organization such as World Vision or Compassion International.
- 9. Party with a purpose: On your next birthday, throw a party, but instead of receiving gifts, ask for donations (food, clothing, money) for a local charity or cause.

"A generous person will prosper; whoever refreshes others will be refreshed." Proverbs 11:25, NIV

MAKE GOOD CHOICES

God knows everything and always makes the best decisions. He wants to help us with our choices.

WOULD YOU RATHER? Answer the following questions as a family. Where appropriate, ask each other why.

- Would you rather never use social media again or never watch another movie or TV show?
- Would you rather live your entire life in a virtual reality where all your wishes are granted or in the real world?
- Would you rather be alone for the rest of your life or always surrounded by annoying people?
- Would you rather be completely invisible for one day or able to fly for one day?
- Would you rather be transported permanently five hundred years into the future or five hundred years into the past?
- Would you rather live the rest of your life without ice cream or without tacos?
- Would you rather donate your body to science or donate your organs to people who need them?
- Would you rather live in a house on the beach or a house in the woods?

Life is filled with questions. Some are trivial, and some are titanic. Here are a few of the big ones:

- What is your purpose in life?
- What are your values?
- Who will you spend your time with?

Our answers to these questions are important, but we also need to look a little deeper. Where do you turn for advice? How do you make decisions? How do you know what is right and what is wrong?

The truth is that God knows everything about us and the world we live in. He is never surprised, and He always makes the best decisions. He also wants to help us with all the choices we face every day.

"Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight."

Proverbs 3:5-6, NIV

Experience Grace Instead of Guilt

Say this to transition:

The answers we just gave reveal a little bit about who we are and what we think is important. Now we are going to read about an event from Jesus's life to get to know His heart.

Just as we spent a little time sharing our answers, let's spend time getting to know the heart of Jesus. First we are going to read from the Bible and then answer a few questions.

Read John 8:3-11.

- What motivated the leaders to bring the woman to Jesus?
 - (a) They were looking for answers about a confusing situation
 - (b) They wanted to trap Jesus with a difficult question
 - (c) They wanted the woman to be punished
 - (d) They wanted the woman to be forgiven
- When she was standing in front of the crowd, what do you think the woman was feeling?
 - (a) Angry
 - (b) Sad
 - (c) Guilty
 - (d) Embarrassed
 - (e) Proud
- After Jesus asked the crowd a question, why did the people leave?
 Why did you choose this answer?
 - (a) They were frustrated with Jesus
 - (b) They had something better to do...like eat lunch
 - (c) They no longer blamed the woman
 - (d) They didn't like Jesus's answer
 - (e) They liked Jesus's answer

- How did Jesus feel about the woman and why?
 - (a) Compassionate
 - (b) Caring
 - (c) Sad
 - (d) Satisfied
 - (e) Loving
- After this event, how do you think the woman felt and why?
 - (a) Joyful
 - (b) Surprised
 - (c) Hopeful
 - (d) Thankful
 - (e) Confident

Experience Grace Instead of Guilt

Guilt is the feeling we have when we do something we know is wrong. Truth is, we weren't meant to carry our own guilt! The heart of Jesus is such that He wants to take away our guilt. He died on the cross for us and forgives our sins and mistakes.

We ought to respond to Jesus in two ways. First, we should accept His free gift through our faith. Imagine receiving a gift but not opening it—that doesn't make any sense! Our second job is to confess to God our sins and mistakes. This means being honest with ourselves and God and asking Him for His forgiveness.

When you feel guilty, don't try to carry it on your own. Give it to God.

"In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, in accordance with the riches of God's grace that he lavished on us."

Ephesians 1:7-8, NIV

Be the Dad Your Child Needs

In Portrait of a Father, Chip Ingram paints a clear picture of crucial roles that every biblical father needs to fill in his children's lives: leader, priest, teacher, and loving dad. Understanding and applying these four snapshots can profoundly shape your children's lives forever.

In this book, I share what I've learned from my study of Scripture, extensive research, and many experiences along the way. I decided long ago that I wanted to be the kind of dad whose grown children would say, "Dad, I know you weren't perfect, but I'm glad you were my dad." — CHIP INGRAM
